PROJECT BRIEF

Perched on the highest dune of Noordwijk, Grand Hotel Huis ter Duin commands sweeping views of the North Sea — a destination where the sea air, refined cuisine and the calm of the spa come together in a single, unhurried escape. Generations of guests have returned here for one reason: an idea of hospitality in which perfection is quiet and service is effortless.

HIGOLD outdoor furniture extends that philosophy from the lobby to the open air. On the hotel's sun-washed terrace, sculptural loungers invite guests to linger over the horizon, while down on the sand, weather-ready sunloungers turn the beach itself into an extension of the suite. Each piece is engineered for the coastal climate yet finished with the warmth of a private retreat.

The result is a seamless dialogue between architecture, landscape and design — an outdoor setting as considered as the rooms within. With HIGOLD, the dunes of Noordwijk become a stage for comfort, leisure and the simple luxury of time by the sea.
