PROJECT BRIEF

Rising over the water on three distinct levels, the Waterfront Restaurant Garden by Weimar is an architectural meditation on the meeting point of structure and nature. The lower floors welcome guests beneath a circular outdoor walkway that wraps the building like a ribbon, while the crowning third floor unfolds into a rooftop garden and a tranquil tea-break area — a panoramic deck that appears to float above the water.

Across these open-air terraces, HIGOLD outdoor furniture brings the spaces to life. Each piece is chosen for the way it balances refined style with everyday comfort, transforming the walkway, the garden and the suspended deck into settings made for lingering — over a long meal, a quiet cup of tea, or the changing light on the water.

The result is an atmosphere where luxury feels effortless and hospitality feels natural. HIGOLD's craftsmanship gives the venue its sense of calm permanence, elevating an extraordinary waterside setting into a place guests remember long after they leave.
